The successful Inku tableware line of leading chef Sergio Herman has been extended with a delightful knife set and a beautiful little glass carafe. The designs were once more inspired by his beloved Japan. With the knives, the layering of the steel blade stands out as does the beautiful handle in cherry wood. The small carafes, intended as milk jugs alongside an Inku sugar bowl, come in pairs in a lovely gift box. The user is of course free to put this carafe to another use, to pour wine or, why not, as a vase, for example.
